Description:

Re-launched in 2010 as a national website, recycler.com's goal is to be the best and most trusted local marketplace on the web. We have been connecting local buyers and local sellers for years. We have our roots in one of the first and most popular classified free ad papers's 38 year-old, Los Angeles-based Recycler Classifieds, and recycler.com has been a destination website for Southern California readers since 1995. Now our reach is nationwide.

recycler.com is your community marketplace. Perhaps you are seeking to buy a used car, a dining room table or a guitar or to rent an apartment or find a job. Or perhaps you want to sell a truck or motorcycle, find a home for your kittens, or market the products or services of your local business. Our location-based search technology allows buyers and sellers to be as local as they want to be. Buyers can search listings in their local community or in the broad national market. Sellers can target customers in specific locales or take advantage of our Recycler Classified Network - a network of top general classifieds and automotive websites - to reach an audience of up to 18 million web shoppers each month.

Offering full integration and sharing via Facebook and Twitter, recycler.com gives sellers the power to tap into social media networks, expanding their reach and maximizing their visibility across user communities.
